REPUBLICAN FAILURE.

Carl W. Riddick, congressman from Montana, chairman of the Publicity Committee of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee has written a letter containing an appeal for funds. The letter bears the title, House of Representatives, Washington, and this line has been added:

"Stationery Used In This Correspondence Privately Bought and Paid For." This statement, however, emphasizes the fact that the letter-head bears no union label nor does the printed contribution form which accompanies it.

The following extract confesses to Republican failure:

"The Harding administration is obligated to carry out the Republican platform pledges..... From the different sections come differences of opinion and counsel, that tend to confusion, delay, compromise, and even failure. The counsel and the misrepresentations in the so-called independent press and in radical and opposition papers add to the confusion."

Then comes the following admission:

"No Republican is entirely satisfied with results so far accomplished."

This confession, coming from such a high official source, means not only that no Republican is entirely satisfied with the results accomplished so far, but that the Republicans as a whole are keenly disappointed at the lack of results

Quoting Chairman Riddick again:

"The only other alternative if the people lose faith in the Republican party is radicalism, revolutionary and confiscatory, that will spread ruin and failure everywhere That menace is real and must be met."

Presumably this has some reference to the "agricultural bloc," although that bi-partisan body of progressives is not mentioned by name

Those who remain true to the reactionary leadership of the Republican party as now constituted by contributing to the campaign chest are given the assurance that their reply "will be brought to the attention of party leaders, who will be appreciative of the favorable response." Of course, contributors will know what this means without further explanation It is simply another evidence of the barter and sale long existing between the Republican party and the special interests in matters of legislation and between the reactionaries and the rank and file in the matter of offices.

COL. JOHN P. NICHOLSON

CHAIRMAN OF BATTLEFIELD COMMISSION PASSES AWAY.

His Service in Gettysburg Had Extended for a Period of Over Thirty Years.

Colonel John Page Nicholson, chairman of the Gettysburg Battlefield National Park Commission, the last of the commissioners and likely the last ever to be appointed, died at his Philadelphia home on Wednesday, March 8th. When Congress first created the Gettysburg Commission, Col. Nicholson was named as one of the three commissioners. Vacancies were at first filled, then as they passed away no new appointents were made, Col Nicholson continuing the work until all his associates on the commission were gone. During the thirty years he has served, all the work of the National Government on the field has been done With the passing of Col. Nicholson, the National Park will probably go into more direct control of an engineer, Col Cope, for the War Department.

Colonel Nicholson was recorder in chief of the Loyal Legion. He had been bedridden for eight weeks and for several days it was known that he could not rally. The funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in the Church of the Saviour. A detail of marines and sailors will act as escort and members of the Loyal Legion will be honorary pallbearers. Interment will be in Philadelphia.

Colonel Nicholson was born July 4, 1842, the son of James B. and Adelaide B. Nicholson. When the Civil War started he enlisted in the Twenty-eighth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. Within a month he was promoted to the rank of sergeant and placed in charge of the depot commissary and quartermaster's supplies at Point of Rocks, Md A year later he was commissioned first lieutenant of Company K Twenty-eighth Regiment, and a few weeks afterward was detailed as regimental quartermaster.

He had scarcely taken up the duties of quartermaster when he was detailed acting adjutant general, First Brigade, Second Division, Twelfth Army Corps.

For heroic services in the Chancellorsville and Gettysburg campaigns, General Hooker recommended him in special orders. General Hooker and General Thomas subsequently recommended him for promotion to captain and he was detailed to General Hooker's staff for special duty. In June 1864, E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War, issued orders specially commending him for meritorious services.

On March 13, 1865, he was brevetted major of United States Volunteers for "gallant and meritorious services in the Savannah and Carolina campaigns" He was brevetted on the same day as Lieutenant Colonel for gallant and meritorious services. Colonel Nicholson was mustered out of the army on July 28, 1865, just four years and one month after he enlisted.

He had served with the Army of Western Virginia, Bank's Corps Army of Virginia, Army of the Potomac, Army of the Cumberland, and the Army of Georgia, Sherman's own. Among the engagements in which he participated were Point of Rocks, Md skirmish; the battles of Bolivar, Va., Cedar Mountain, Second Bull Run, Antietam, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Lookout Mountain, Peach Tree Creek, Atlanta and Savannah He was in Sherman's march to the sea, in the march through the Carolinas to Goldsboro and to Raleigh, and was at the surrender of Joseph E Johnston's forces.

Throughout the war he held the admiration and strong personal regard of Generals Sherman, McClellan, Slocum, Hooker, Greene and other leaders.

Since the war he had been one of the most active members of the Loyal Legion He was chairman of the Gettysburg National Park Commission and had been commended year after year for the splendid condition of that historic field He also was vice president of the Valley Forge Commission.

Colonel Nicholson collected an enormous library of Civil War literature. His catalogues describe 15,600 volumes which comprise the library, said to be the largest collection of the kind in the world Some time ago he explained why his collection contained neither what usually is described as Lincolniana nor naval books. The late Major Lambert made the great collection of books and relics of the Great Emancipator and Colonel Nicholson left that field entirely to him, while Assistant Engineer Frederick Schober, U. S. N., busied himself gathering everything relating to naval operations during the Civil War.

He was translator and editor of the "History of the Civil War in America," written by the Comte de Paris, and he edited and compiled two volumes dealing with the part Pennsylvania played in the Battle of Gettysburg.

On June 28, 1882, the degree of master of arts was conferred on Colonel Nicholson by Marietta College. Gettysburg College conferred the degree of doctor of letters on him October 20, 1916. Among his memberships were the Minnesota Historical Society, Society of the Cincinnati, Tennessee Historical Society, Post No. 2, G. A. R., Society of the Army of West Virginia and the Society of the Army of the Potomac

Either Coat or Cape in This Garment

Back of every radical fashion is a fundamental idea which when traced to its source has some particular appeal to woman. Arrival of spring fashions shows the major idea this year to be "two-in-one" garments. The cape-dress and cape-suits are among the newest showings. The idea offers woman a bargain of two garments for the price of one.

The newest offering is the coat shown here, which is convertible either to a cape-coat or a smart raglan sleeve sport coat. When sleeves are unbuttoned they form a cape. When buttoned as shown on the left a raglan sleeve model is obtained

President Urges Subsidy for Merchant Marine

President Harding is here seen recommending to Congress that the "costly experiment" in the shipping business be brought to an end and advising that ship subsidy legislation is necessary to put the American flag foremost on the seas. The administration has pointed out that an American merchant marine is as vital to farmer and the inland manufacturer as to the business men on the seaboard. Ships are the railroads of international commerce carrying American products and American manufactures to all corners of the earth. Ships spell increased trade and steady employment.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE.

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend? Ask your neighbor.

J. J. Eiker, Prop. taxi business, 226 N. Stratton St., Gettysburg, says: "There is no finer kidney medicine than Doan's Kidney Pills. Five years ag I had a lot of kidney trouble which came on through a cold. When lying in bed. my back would hurt badly and every time I made a turn, a sharp, jabbing pain caught me in my back. During the day there was a constant soreness and pain in my back which caused more than a little trouble. My kidneys were inactive and I knew they were affected because the secretions were unnatural in color. I had the right medicine all right when I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box of this remedy and it helped me. A few boxes put my back in the best of shape and restored my kidneys to a normal condition again."

Remember the old heavily loaded pole lines which literally darkened the streets back in the nineties?

A triumph of the telephone art were those "big sticks" with their many cross arms and open wires.

But cable is the thing today for these heavy lines. As many as 3000 wires are now enclosed within a sheath no bigger 'round than a man's wrist.

In the more congested districts where it is economical to do so the cables are buried underground.

Progress is to be expected—and progress always toward better and more reliable service—and always toward a more economical service, even though it be extended to the Gulf, the Middle West, the Coast, or wherever American business is transacted.

In cable, switchboard, instrument, and operation this progress is steadily going on. Every day brings a new improvement, a new economy from some point in the Bell System—north, east, south or west.

And it is always available right here in our own city.

That's what makes Bell Service the standard of the world.

ATLAS
PORTLAND CEMENT

A NEW industry comes to town, or an old one moves into new and better quarters. Either is a credit to the community and to the merchant who thus gives evidence of his progress.

One man has played a possibly unnoticed, but no less essential part in this community improvement—your building material dealer. His investment in a slow moving stock, building materials, is a definite pledge of his belief in the community. His stock and ability to deliver promptly enable you to take advantage of weather conditions, and rush unexpectedly needed construction. Your building material dealer's judgment deservedly has weight. He is the man who has called Atlas Portland Cement "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

Township Kaisers.

The way of the politician, unlike that of the transgressor, isn't always hard, more's the pity! And who shall say that the politician isn't a transgressor often? I live in Franklin township, Adams county. We secured a state road through our Buchanan Valley, and so made things quite easy for the township road supervisor, yet doth that doughty gentleman complain over-much and cuss at us right lustily; and our byways, thanks to him, are worse than in the dark ages before the lamented Lewis Sadler bestowed on us our state road. Some of our folks may lose their rural mail route because of their mud-choked, guttered roads and our unapproachable supervisor.

A heavy snow in the mountains means sumthin'. Whittier wrote in poetic strain about "Snow-bound," but I find mountainous snow a bitter joke. If we must have snow, I prefer to take mine in a well-heated movie house where the films unreel Alaska.

Up here we had just got shut of one blockading snow when along showers another. Our road supervisor, living practically on the Lincoln Highway himself, condemned us to wallow in the deep fleece, claiming that we'd spent $140 for cleaning the roads the first shot. There you discover the Czar's usurper and Siberia right in Pennsylvania. Kiddies going to school had to wade through snow up to their hips—and in these days of flu and diphtheria! Folks couldn't have come to church if they wanted to. A man dying down the way could scarcely be reached by doctor or clergyman.

I investigated about the expenditure of $140. I found that the man who did most of the work with his snow-plow and horses was enriched by $11. Some of the other men were paid 80c. It most likely is true that $140 was spent, but who got it?

It's a murdering pity that politicians are let have so much of their own way. The Kaiser has nuthin' on some of them when it comes to being overbearing and unjust. I, who specialize in funerals, could wish we had more political ones—without trumpets and no flowers. So many of the politicians are dead-heads, and the only time they wake up and take notice is when there's money to be spent—for their own advantage.

Buchanan Valley.

COLLEGE DRIVE NEARS END.

Million Dollar Fund Within $8,000 of Goal.

At an executive committee meeting of the Gettysburg College Expansion and Endowment Fund drive in Chambersburg Monday afternoon, Rev. William F. Sunday, secretary of the committee surprised the members with the announcement that $915,550.74 has already been received or pledged. In view of this fact, it is believed that the remaining $85,000 of the one million dollars sought can be raised between Easter and Commencement, and plans were laid at the meeting Monday to wage an intensive drive for this amount.

Another gratifying feature brought out in the report of Mr. Sunday was that in addition to the $915,000 already secured, numerous bequests in wills of persons still living aggregate about $200,000.

Included in the total amount pledged to date, is the $70,000 raised by the Woman's League of the College. This fund was raised originally for the erection of the Y. M. C. A. building now under roof on the campus, but was turned over to the endowment and expansion drive to swell its total.

When the million dollars is collected and pledged, sixty per cent of the amount, or $600,000, will be put aside as an endowment fund. The other forty percent or $400,000, will be utilized in the erection of new buildings at College. Of this latter amount the sum which the Woman's League has contributed, or $70,000 is being spent on the new Y. M. C. A. building.

A new dormitory in memory of the College men who gave their lives in the late war is pledged by the Philadelphia Conference of the Lutheran Church. This building is to cost $101,000 and while the entire amount has not yet been raised, the full quota was included in the report of Mr Sunday.

The remainder of the $400,000 expansion fund will be spent on improvements on college buildings and the erection of a new science hall which is under contemplation on the ground just beyond the Y. M. C. A. building. Definite plans for its erection have not been made but it is expected to be under construction within a year.

After hearing the report of Mr. Sunday, the executive committee was divided into two sub-committees for the purpose of an intensive drive among the Lutheran churches and the alumni of Gettysburg College.

The first committee is composed of Dr. Henry Anstadt, of Chambersburg, and Rev. J. W. Ott, of Hagerstown. This committee will appoint alumni of the College to personally interview other alumni between Easter and Commencement for contributions for the last lap of the million dollar drive.

The other committee headed by Dr. W. A. Granville with John W. Dapp of Harrisburg, and Dr. J. B. Baker, will canvass the churches throughout this State and northern Maryland for additional contributions. It will also be the duty of this committee to interview those who, it is believed, are able to give large bequests to the drive.

Rev. William F. Sunday, Rev. Dr. J. B. Baker and Rev. Dr. Henry Anstadt left for Pittsburgh for the purpose of getting the western Lutheran churches and alumni of the College to swing in line for the final push. These men will organize committees in Pittsburgh to make personal canvasses of the western part of the State of all alumni and all Lutheran churches.

Members of the executive committee present at the meeting Monday were Dr. J. B. Baker, Dr. A. R. Wentz, Dr. J. A. Clutz, Dr. Charles A. Huber and H. C. Picking, of Gettysburg: Dr. Henry Anstadt, Chambersburg; Rev. J. W. Ott, Hagerstown, and E. S. Gerberich, of Middle-

Spring Fashions

Dry Goods Dept. Store

First arrivals always heighten curiosity—indeed these new Spring Costumes do, each one a triumph, so fresh and new in silhouette, in fabric and in garniture. It would be nice to introduce them one by one, much as important guests at famous functions are, for each by its own attractiveness is worthy. But just to tell you that the most distinguished of Spring Fashions are here, revealing lines that may be traced to Moyen and Victorian times, trimming notions from the Far East, China, and from the Near East, Russia, fabrics into whose woof and warp is woven the skill of such men as Rodier and Poiret, is now our purpose and to invite you to this exposition of styles beautiful, styles authentic, for the Spring of the Year 1922.

Gloves

Aren't the biggest item in a complete costume repetoire, but for Spring they show such novelty that one may say, "Having been faithful in little things the important role of giving accent to ones whole appearance may be left to them."

Veils

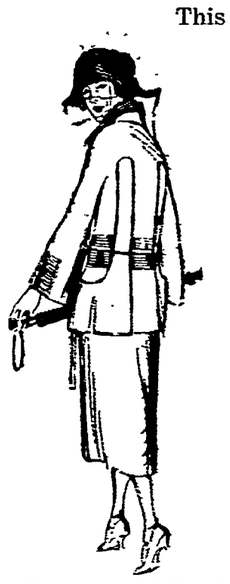

It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good and the ones who will profit by this Spring's breezes are the clever women who seize the opportunities they offer to wear crisp Veils from this assortment.

Neckwear

From perky pique sets to lacy vestees of filet and Irish composes one of the Store's most bewitching displays, a place you surely must visit as soon as you know the necklines of your new frocks.

New Suits

This and That About Them

It's a story in three parts that the most swagger Tailleurs tell. a jacket, a skirt and a blouse, though some jackets turn out to be capes and some skirts and blouses join fashion forces and appear as one piece frocks. That's the situation in a nut shell, but you are eager for the smart and telling details. You want to know that soft Kashas and colorful tweeds are favored, that boxed jackets are jauntiest, that stand up collars are perky, that bright colors are frequently introduced and so on and so on well. come and see them, Suits almost without end.

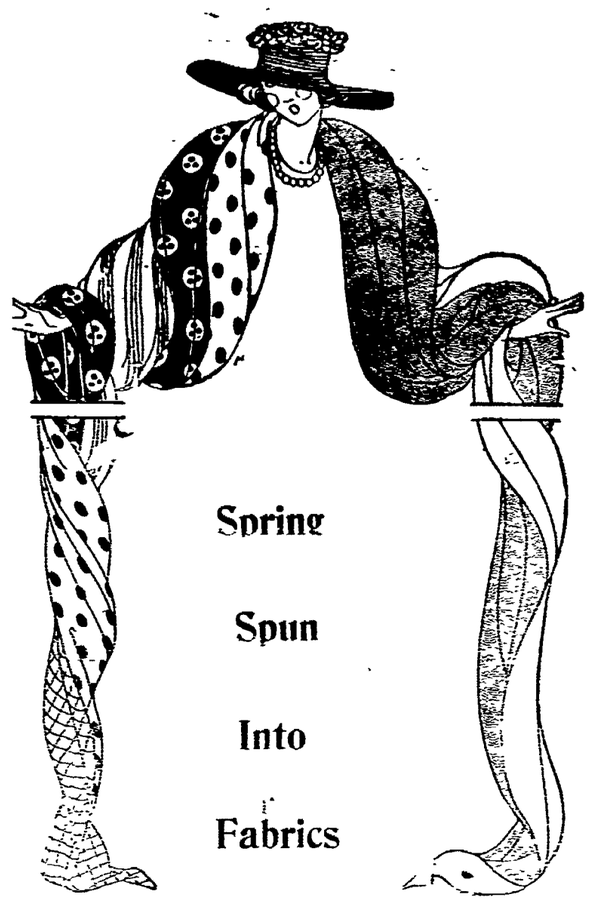

When fashion prescribes Suits of sports fabrics with boxed jackets the young Miss longs to take possession. And when she does she will find our displays ready for her.

Frocks

In Many Guises—All Smart

Varying as to details but with a single thought—to fashion Frocks distinctively smart has been the creed of designers for Spring. A bouffant taffeta in quaint basque style. a crisply cut street Frock of Crepe Knit whose upper half is made of Canton Crepe. How different each is from the other, yet how individually good looking, portraying the brilliant fashion ideas of great designers and promising the well-dressed woman a distinctiveness that less exclusive styles could never give.

Sweet sixteen and looking even more winsome will be easy in these quaintly bouffant taffetas, and for every day are Jerseys in Billie style.

It is a marvellous art the modern weavers practice, from those exquisite lengths that hail from Rodier's studios to the also fascinating Fabrics from our own New England mills. The Woolens, rich and soft, the tweeds and twills; the Crepes more crinkly than ever and just as fashionable, the Taffetas, faille-like in texture, the Sports Silks pursuing novelty and color with abandon. One wonders when before there have been quite so many, so brim full of costume inspiration for the clever woman who designs her own.

Blouses and Skirts

Make such charming Spring debuts that they will be unconditionally admitted to the wardrobes, even drawing rooms, of smartly dressed women. First the Blouses; they they have called a wealth of Old World artistry their own, especially the ones of white crepe de Chine so quaintly embroidered in bright colors after Bulgarian peasant motifs.

Skirts deserted pleats when their designers first set eyes on something different, something newer—Skirts that fit the hips snugly and drape gracefully toward one side whether fashioned of silk or the rich woolens.

Coats--Capes

Reveal Sports Tendencies

The Cape's the thing. it's seen on every hand where fashionably costumed women gather. but not just "any" Cape will do. Certain things stand out among the elect of style. Fabrics. just the softest most serviceable sort. the sports materials. tweeds and homespuns. The lines are after comfort's pattern. gathered at the shoulder or circularly cut. And such features as stand up collars, scarf throws. fringed finishes. place Capes on heights of style distinction. Coats of soft woolens take to mannish lines and the enjoyment of possessing such a Coat should hasten you on to your selection.

Hosiery

Limited to space as Hosiery is because of longer skirts, many things would just have made the best of circumstances. Hosiery has made the most of them, revealing smart new shades in sheer weaves and exceedingly swagger wool sports models.

Lingerie

Though nothing could be filmier or more delicate than fine Lingerie one always feels as though they stand on terra firma when broaching this subject to women—they all love pretty underthings so. One feels surer than ever of their ground this Spring in view of displays as large and lovely as these.

Stout Apparel

Has been made a feature of the Spring Exposition because its designers have created costumes exactly as attractive and becoming as in the smaller sizes.

Loose panels and beading make Frocks decidedly good looking, and sports lines so fashionable for Spring make the new Coats and Suits becoming to larger women.

During their trips to the great fashion centers to select the costumes that make up this Spring Exposition, our buyers, kept prominently in mind the varying preferences and requirements of our patrons. This means you will find garments here chosen as individually suited to you as though exclusively created for you by leading designers.

For the Kiddies

Not by any means the least attractive of the Spring displays are those for Children and the Infant folk. Everything to outfit them from tip to toe is here in assortments that are complete. And never have you seen more interesting styles.

Let Spring Into Your Home

Next to new togs for yourself, choosing new things to brighten up your home promises the most pleasant shopping hours. A gay chintz covered pillow for the comfy chair; new curtains in new Spring patterns, cretonnes, swisses, scrims that beckon to Spring breezes; a Japanese print breakfast cloth to make breakfast tastier; a bowl of growing bulbs. You who take such pride in the attractiveness of your home know how effective these little things can be and we know that the Home Furnishing Sections are very completely represented in this Spring Exposition.
